In Appreciation

We, the senior class of 1970, dedicate this page to Mr. and Mrs. David McGaffin, for three years of outstanding service to Central Aroostook High School. Mr. McGaffin has worked in and advanced our physical education program. Mrs. McGaffin has contributed much time and effort to the improvement of C.A.H.S.'s library, and the formation of the Aroostookettes.

Even more important than all these contributions, Mr. and Mrs. McGaffin have been friends to us, and we truly appreciate their devotion to C.A.H.S.

Message From The Superintendent

Superintendent
RONALD E. SUSEE

To the Class of 1970, I wish to offer my congratulations on your achievement of the first step in your educational process. Completion of your Public School Program.

The world you are about to face is, in spite of the many words said and written to the contrary, the same world faced by past generations and to be faced by those who will come in the future. The same, or similar pleasures and problems - strife in the midst of peace, hunger in the midst of plenty, discrimination in a society that preaches non-discrimination - unlimited problems, simple and complex.

Socrates stated, "The unexamined life is not worth living," Barnaby Keen stated, "The un-lived life is not worth examining." I would ask you here to hesitate for a short time to consider the above statements. Only that life which contributes to the society in which one lives can bear examination. Only by facing reality can one contribute.

Once again, congratulations on your achievements to date and all our best wishes for your endeavors to come.

Enthusiasm reflected through the many achievements of your high school years serve as an inspiration to those fortunate enough to participate in your experiences. 1969-70 Basketball

The outlook for the 1969-70 basketball season for the Panthers was a good one. With three returning starters from a year ago, the sights were set high for a repeat tournament berth and the possibility of winning the class "M" championship.

At the conclusion of the season, Central Aroostook stood with a respectable 14-4 mark, which was good enough for fifth place in the Eastern Maine Tournament. CAHS was matched with fourth rated Woodland at the 9:00 A.M. ballgame. Panther fans realized that their team would be weakened as two regular starters had been side-lined with the flu. But the team was determined to go all the way and they did their best under many handicaps.

Although the Panthers were defeated by Woodland, 68-41, the consensus was that Central Aroostook had a better ball club. The scorebook may say otherwise, but there is no one who can convince Coach Archer that his Panthers shouldn't have been in the finals. Yet, the season was successful. Playing an 18 game schedule and losing only 4 games against some tough opposition, one sees that the individual players should be recognized.

John York - Now the holder of about 10 school records including the rebounding title. John won the respect of opposition players, coaches, and officials for his hard fought and aggressive type basketball and his sportsman-like attitude. Always giving 100% on the floor and one of the most unselfish boys on the team. This only regular starting senior is going to be hard to replace.

Tom Church - Team spark plug and leader, Tom was able to direct the offense and come through with many key baskets in the clutch. He worked extremely hard on defense and usually hold the task of guarding the opponents best scorer. Tom has one great year left.

Dave Weeks - Dave led the team in assists and helped in directing the offense. He would literally kill a team that played a zone with his two hand jump shot. A big disappointment came for Dave when he was unable to attend the tournament because of illness.

Pete Irvine - Pete is recognized by many for his driving ability and lightening speed. He was top scorer and rebounder along with Tom and John all season. Pete had a poor game at the tournament as he was playing while still fighting the flu. With two years of varsity ball remaining, Peter should break every school record in CAHS history.

Terry Weeks - Terry, who is only a freshman, had only one handicap - lack of experience. He alternated as guard and his experience from this season should be very beneficial in his next three years.

Don Donovan - Don didn't become eligible until second semester, but he worked his way into the team as a fill in at center. He helped out on the boards a great deal.

Ward Bradbury - Steady improvement on J.V. 's earned Ward a berth on Varsity where he became an alternate starter. Ward has a lot of desire and confidence which should prove helpful in the next two years.

Jim Lovely - Brian Williams - Both of these boys are juniors and are the tallest members of the team. They could become assets next year with a lot of hard work.

Dennis Anderson, Phil Parks, Bill Mugford, Jan Durost, Jay Durost - These boys saw little game action, but Coach Archer has the highest respect for all five. They rarely missed practice and were the first to encourage the team on to victory. A group like this is hard to find and they were a very important part of the Panther success this season.

The Three Muskateers - Brian, Steve, and Mike cared for uniforms, cleaned up locker rooms, and taped ankles. They also kept the team in good humor and managed to mess up the charts.

To the graduating senior class of 1970, even though you were disappointed at the tournament, your team had a very successful season. Be proud of them because their coach certainly was, and he will always hold the highest respect for the Panthers of 1969-70.

the CAHS won*

The CAHS Ski Team was undefeated this year in skiing. The score this year was 16-0 during the regular season and won the "A" Eastern Maine Championship our first year as an "A" team.

Barnes was Skimeister at 6 of 7 meets this year. In the one meet in which he was not Meister, he was second by only 1.8 points out of 400, and was Skimeister at the Regionals.

In CC competition with 14 teams, only Madawaska and Fort Fairfield beat us; both by less than one point. We won the CC at the Regionals.

In jumping this year, CAHS was not beaten by 15 opponents.

In Slalom, only 1 of 12 opponents defeated Mike Barnes in Slalom, and 29 at the regionals failed to beat him.

Our Slalom team finally had a great meet in Slalom at the "A" Regionals winning by over 6 per cent.

In G. S. at the Regionals, Madawaska beat us by 0.18 per cent.

We, by winning the "A" Regionals, qualified for the State Finals at Farmington.

Kris Weeks was captain this year. Only two Seniors, Fred Boyd and Jamie Tweedie were on the team.

The rest of the team was made up of five Freshmen, three Sophomores, and two Juniors.

Editorial

Notice the color of our Aroostookan "70" - appreciate it - we could have chosen funky flowers on black.

Turn the padded Panther covers and feast your eyes on the versatile Maine weather scenes. Remember the saying, "if you don't like Maine's weather, wait a minute and it will change.?"

On the next page, the title page, you can see a flattering version of "THE PLACE." Look closely - doesn't it look lonely on the top of that hill? Believe it or not, we'll miss good ol' Central Aroostook.

Our dedication, as you will notice, is to our indispensable parents. Let's face it, we never would have gotten this far if it weren't for them. You can take that more ways than one!

When you turn the page you can see our superintendent and principal. Due to tradition, they were placed before the Seniors!

Our efficient faculty is next. Here are a few examples of their efficiency. One female teacher let her car run away while another teacher turned her furnace down so the Christmas tree lights would cool. This summer keep your eyes open and you will see how efficient a math teacher and a chemistry teacher are. Mr. Porter, "keep the faith, Baby," you'll get straightened around on your 60 seconds.

What tuff Seniors! Not really, it's only that their pictures flatter them.

Observe next that our pictures of the underclassmen have been taken outdoors. Notice their wide, beautiful smiles, also those shiney white teeth. They should be white from all those dental excuses!?

We'd like you to glance over the several activity pages. No wonder we never get anything done around this "PLACE."

Notice the round, healthy looking faces of our athletes. We couldn't bear to show the rest of their physique for fear of incrimination.

The literary section is largely a product of our super-psyched comp. classes. Zilch!

We have a rather large ad section this year. We made it that way on purpose! Remember, the more ads to sell the more time away from "THE PLACE."

We've finally finished!

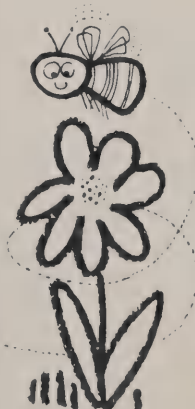

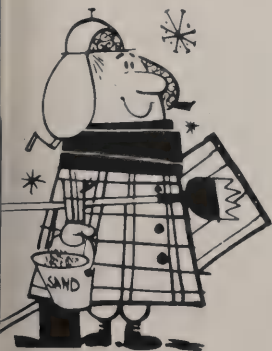

Phew!

DIRIGO

Each June, several students are given the opportunity to attend Boys' State at the University of Maine and Girls' State at Colby College for one week. This is made possible at the expense of the American Legion and other interested civic organizations. Throughout the week the students were given firsthand information on the fundamentals of state, county, and local governments. In June of 1969, the following students enjoyed this experience: Cheryl Gilman, Joy Patterson, Rhonda Greene, Ruth McCrum, Paula Fletcher, John York, Mike Brown, and Brian Dahlgren. Those who have the privilege of attending find it to be an enjoyable and rewarding experience which they will never forget.

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

The Curtis Magazine Campaign - these words excite all the students at C. A. H. S. into a whirl of door to door selling, telephone calls and healthy competition among classes as well as individual students. Each class has an opportunity to add money to its treasury and the students have an excellent chance to win prizes. This year's winning class was the Freshman and Betsy Edmunds was high salesman for the school for the fourth consecutive year.

FFA

Encouraging members in the development of proper farming methods and developing agricultural leadership are among the major goals of the Future Farmers of America. Our chapter of the FFA has been active on the county and state level but also on the national level. They have an annual project of planting and harvesting potatoes. The boys also hold an annual FFA Banquet and sponsor an FFA basketball team. Brian Williams was chosen to play in the National FFA Band at Kansas City.

WINTER CARNIVAL

This year's Winter Carnival King and Queen were crowned at the Coronation Ball on February 14. Our queen Denise Townsend and our king Steven Alexander were elected by popular votes of the students. Several events were held but many were postponed because of the lack of snow. The Penny Carnival will be held on March 6. The Winter Carnival Coronation Ball was also a great success.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The members of the Student Council, our school's center of government, are elected by the students in the fall of each new school year. This organization sponsors Sloppy Joe Day, which everyone looks forward to.

JUNIOR EXHIBITION

Junior Exhibition is one of the highlights of the school year, especially for the juniors. The class of 1970 held its Junior Exhibition on May 8, 1969. The speeches were quite varied and all who attended were well entertained by the talented speakers. Holly Smith and Don Donovan were chosen to participate in the Aroostook League Speaking Contest.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

National Honor Society's goal is to help raise school standards even higher. This year our National Honor Society initiated four new members at the annual Christmas Assembly. As the year progressed, plans were made for the annual Winter Carnival celebration which is sponsored by N. H. S. This organization has also been active on the county level and Beth Blanchard held the county office of Vice President this year. This organization also sponsors an annual Alumni Banquet in the spring.

BAND

Our band, as always, is one of the best in the county. This is due to the hard work put into making it better by both the director, Mrs. Smith and the students. The band has performed at various school functions this year. A most vivid part of our basketball games is the game warm-up and half time when the band displays its talent. This year the band is having an exchange concert with Thomaston. Various talented band members were chosen to participate in All Aroostook Band and All State Band.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The FHA, a national organization of girls studying homemaking in high school, emphasizes the improvement of home and community as indicated by its motto, "Toward New Horizons." Our FHA chapter is very active in school and civic activities. It sponsors the Penny Carnival and holds an annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in the spring. Other major activities on the FHA calendar include District Convention and State Convention and many worthwhile projects which benefit both our school and our community.

PANTHER PRESS

This year is the second year for the Panther Press. Under capable supervision of Mrs. Barker the Panther Press has added much enjoyment to our school life, even if it didn't always come out on time.

AROOSTOOKETTES

This is also the second year for our fine singing group at C. A. H. S. The Aroostookettes are directed by Mrs. McGaffin. These girls have worked hard throughout the year. They have taken part in many school and town functions and have provided enjoyment for many.

MAJORETTES

The Majorettes provide an abundance of entertainment for the public and during half-time at basketball games. They have worked hard throughout the year under the capable supervision of Mrs. Smith and Phyllis Sweeney.

GLEE CLUB

Our Glee Club has been very active this past year. As a result of serious practice, under the capable direction of Mrs. Luther Bubar. Many of the members were chosen to participate in All Aroostook Glee Club. Vicki Grass received the honor of being chosen for All State Glee Club. The Glee Club also participated in a combined concert with Presque Isle High School.

VARSITY CLUB

This club, which is set up for the betterment not only of our school but also of the community, is now in its fourth year. This year's exciting initiation held in December saw the addition of nine new members. Richard Long, Mike Dahlgren, Jan Durost, Steve Cheney, Ernest Cockran, Bill Mugford, Jim Tweedie, Bruce Sargent, and Dennis Anderson.

SENIOR PLAY

The play, Flowers For Algernon, is the compelling story of Charlie Gordon, willing victim of a strange experiment - a moron, a genius, a man in search of himself. It is poignant, funny, tragic but offers hope for the indomitable spirit of man.

For 31 Years Of Service

Mr. Stromback, you're really swell!!
We salute you.

A few years back - notice the clean desk -

He always grins like that when he is up to mischief.

Like his new glasses??

He always has his hand into something.

English Comp. Literary

'Twas the day before Christmas vacation,
When all through the school.
All students were stirring, ignoring the rule;
The books were thrown on desks without care
In hopes that a teacher wouldn't be there.
The teachers were nearly out of their heads
While wishing they were still snug in their beds.
Mr. Yerxa in his office with a paper in his lap,
Had just settled back for a relaxing nap,
When down from the stairs there arose such a clatter.
He sprang from his seat to see what was the matter.
Away to the hall he flew like a flash,
Pushed open the door and ran upstairs fast.
Mr. Shepherd, standing with his face all a glow
Looked as though he was saying, "Oh, No! Oh, No!"
When what to Mr. Yerxa's eyes did appear
But millions of bubbles coming nearer than near!
With a little thinking came a thought so new
He knew in a moment just what to do.
More rapidly and loudly his voice it came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name
"Now, Ruthie! Now, Philip! Now, Lance! Lynn and Patty!
On Greg! On, Mike! On Bruce, Sue, and Debbie!
To the top of the stairs! to the back of the hall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!
As he reached for the door and was turning around
Down the stairs Mrs. Bubar came with a bound.
She was dressed in an apron from the Home Ec room
And her clothes were all wrinkled, but to be ironed soon;
Another group of teachers flew down,
And with much curiosity, they looked all around
Mr. Archer he laughed, Mrs. Barker she giggled,
When under the doorway the bubbles did wiggle
They rose to the ceiling and splashed off the wall
The kids were all laughing and having a ball.
The floor was all slippery and the ceiling all wet,
The person responsible will pay you can bet!
The janitors were waltzing with a mop in each hand
Then Mrs. Smith cried strike up the band!
Mr. Susee came on the scene,
Took one look and began to scream
Throwing his hand in the air with despair,
He said, "Let's leave! There's Christmas out there!"

Betsy Edmunds '70

Only in America is opportunity for the young so great. Our forefathers spent two hundred years of hard work to make this country as great as it is. They fought two world wars to keep freedom in other countries as well as in our own. Are we, the young people of today, our generation, going to let all that our forefathers have fought so hard to get, slip through our fingers?

Our generation is faced with internal problems greater than ever before. The white man and the black man cannot even live side by side without disagreeing with each other to the extent of having riots. A small minority of our generation is having student uprisings within the colleges and other institutions of learning.

Are we, the majority of the younger generation, going to set back and watch this happen? Our generation has its leaders just as the younger generation of yesterday did. We will win, and our society will survive. Only in America could the young people grow up with such great odds against them and still triumph.

Joe Carmichael '70

The light of day was fading as a breeze from the north sprang up and gently swayed the trees. The woods became darker, the colors of trees blended into a background of darkness as the moments passed. A sudden rustling of leaves and cracking of branches caused a nesting bird to fly from a low tree.

A doe, poking her nose between two large tree trunks, advanced into the open garden. The doe emerged cautiously from under the canopy of trees and walked haltingly onto the grassy end of the garden. Motionless, the doe sniffed the air, then stooped her head to eat.

The doe's white markings stood out strongly against her brown body. Her brown eyes reflected the last light of the fading day. Suddenly the doe's body tensed. Her youthful body turned slightly as she prepared to spring for safety. Her head turned left and right as she tried to locate the source of her danger. Poised as if to spring, she suddenly leaped into the sanctuary of the woods, her body quickly disappearing into deepening darkness. The trees rustled, then silence fell over the darkening woods. No trace of the doe was left behind to tell of her presence.

Sitting there alone watching television, I realized how much I loved and needed my parents. Without them, what would I do? What would I be? I think of all the things they've given me, all the good times we've done together. Sometimes we don't share the same opinions, but they're usually right. They make these decisions for my good. If they didn't make decisions about where I should go, what I should do, or when I should be home, how would I know they cared for me? As I sat there waiting for them to come home I wondered what I would do if they didn't come. How would I manage? How could I bear the loneliness and sorrow? I never think of how much I would miss them until I am alone; then it scares me when I think about it. How can I repay them for the love and devotion they have given me. I hope they know that I love them as much as they love me.

Richard Long '70

Love is complicated, yet so simple. It is beautiful and warm. It is bright and lively, and it gives me a gay, wonderful feeling. Love is respect, and it requires respect. It can't be treated carelessly or without a great deal of consideration. Love is peace, and peace is happiness. Happiness is being able to please someone, so love also pleases others. Love helps to make life beautiful, and it makes me appreciate the world and the people around me.

Beth Blanchard '70

It is that good feeling that could melt all the ice in the world. It is, in fact, so many-faceted and multi-dimensional that there seems to be no special word or thought that can express the feeling it creates. A writer once expressed his feelings very adequately. "If all the sky were parchment, all the ocean, ink, then to write love, would drain the ocean dry, and the scroll, though stretched from sky to sky, could not contain all of his thoughts."

Bill Mugford '70

It is the soft, radiant glow of a mother's eyes.
It is the bouquet of dandelions a little girl picks for her mother.
It is the gentle kiss a husband gives his wife after a hard day.

Rhonda Greene '70

Love is like a long, long river,
 It flows and flows almost forever.
 It runs around its many bends,
 But, like love, it always has an end.
 It starts from nothing but a spring,
 And develops into a great big thing.
 It has strong hands, and very long arms,
 It can be very dangerous, while maintaining its charms.
 When it is a little high,
 It will flow quickly by.
 But when the water level drops,
 The rapid current seems to stop.
 When it comes to one of its bends,
 It flows smoothly around, but does not end.
 It slips by night and day
 And becomes more and more important in every way.
 When it flows around its last bend,
 It weeps in sorrow, because it knows it must end.
 It looks and looks for a place to hide,
 But it just becomes part of the tide.
 In the ocean it lies peaceful and calm,
 Like the sun in the early dawn.
 It lies and ponders about the past,
 And wonders why it did not last.

Donald Donovan '70

Peace isn't something which just comes about; peace comes with hard work. Youth today has the power and initiative to work towards peace in non-violent ways. I believe that by working in constructive ways, the goal of peace can become closer.

Violence seems to be the only answer some people have for obtaining peace. The war in Vietnam has taken many lives, and the United States is no closer to her goal. Riots plague college campuses and blanket the news media. Have these rioters achieved their goal? Violence only leads to more violence. It's not that young people of today want to destroy; it's that they forget along the way as they continue to fight.

The energy the young people use in their violent demonstrations and riots, could be put to use in constructive ways. The knowledge have gained could be used in teaching others in foreign countries. Why not teach an illiterate person how to read and write instead of painting a picket sign. The college students could be teaching others of our Democratic society instead of sitting on the Dean's doorstep. Through organizations such as the Peace Corps these constructive ways of obtaining peace are achieved. If people of different nations learn to understand one another, it's easier to make peace both personally and politically. Young people have the power to do this; now they must try to further their goal.

Paula Fletcher '70

What is love?

Love is soft and beautiful;
 It comes and goes like the wind and the spring rain
 But is always gentle.
 Love is as perfect and pure as a daisy blossoming in a field,
 Dancing with the wind.
 It is ever near, one just has to look sometimes to find it.

BUSINESSMEN*

...is spelled incorrectly.

Because men don't come last. At least not in our business . . . the electric utility industry. Our men are at the center of utility responsibilities. Upon each of them depends the success of the industry's people programs . . . pollution control, conservation, urban renewal.

Being at the center of things is much harder than tagging along at the end. But our men think it's worth the effort.

*P.S. We spell it "busi-men-ness."
